OURSTORY

The story of SPACES, the Student Promoted Access Center for Education and Service, dates back generations of student activists who have dedicated their time, effort, and love to the student movement. These activists had the vision to dream of a recruitment and retention center at UCSD – so that ALL students would have access to higher education, as well as the resources to help them succeed once they got here.

In the spring of 2003, the $39/per student per quarter University Centers Expansion Referendum was proposed by the Associated Students. Through protest and struggle, student activists ensured there was a home for the student-run recruitment and retention center (now called SPACES), as well as a new SAAC Lounge and a permanent space for the Cross-Cultural Center.

In the spring of 2005, student activists banded together to obtain funding for the impending student recruitment and retention center. The DOORS referendum received well over the 50% minimum of voting students in support of the action, but due to an insufficient amount of total student votes, the referendum did not pass.

In the spring of 2007, student activists once again banded together to demand that the university prioritize student retention and access to higher education. The result of these efforts culminated in the $7/per student per quarter Promoting Understanding and Learning through Service and Education (PULSE) Referendum.

With 22% of the campus voting, 56% of the students said YES to PULSE and established guaranteed funding for ASP and SIAPS as well as mandated the creation of a new center – SPACES – that would serve as a support organization for student-initiated access and retention programs and services. The PULSE Referendum guaranteed permanent funding and space for ASP, SIAPS, and SPACES.

MISSION

The mission of the Student Promoted Access Center for Education and Service (SPACES) is to act as an empowering dynamic on campus where UCSD students collaborate to achieve greater educational equity. This encompasses equal access to higher education, undergraduate retention and graduation, and matriculation to graduate and professional schools.

SPACES values the power of student initiated action and organizing by providing an environment for student growth and development and thus is a foundation to create leadership and unity through community engagement.

SPACES shall serve as the center for student-initiated access and retention projects at the university. Student Initiated Access Programs and Services (SIAPS) shall exist as the "access" component to SPACES. Student-Initiated Programs for Holistic Retention (SIPHR) shall exist as the "retention" component to SPACES. Student Program Ignited for Community Engagement and Education (SPICEE) shall exist as the "community" component to SPACES.

OURSTORY

1997: Alex T. Tom stumbled upon some notes from the 1980's about a joint task force between the Associated Students and the Chancellors concerning the outstanding number of low student satisfaction at UC San Diego. The recommendation from that committee suggested creating some type of student group to tackle this growing issue. Alex, the Associated Students Vice President of External Affairs at the time, then sparked from these notes the idea of the Academic Success Program.

1998: ASP became officially established. Throughout the years, the members of the Academic Success Program continued to tackle these issues as they noticed common links connecting the low student satisfaction rates to UC San Diego's annual dropout rate of 25%. The four pioneering first year students of AASU (now known as BSU), APSA, MEChA, and KP, helped initiate and implement services that shaped the mission statement of ASP to help students stay in school. Although initially supported, a lack of attention and funding towards the cause resulted in the program nearly failing. Due largely to the efforts of a few pioneering student leaders, and at times just one individual, ASP stayed alive and was able to make itself known to the campus community

2001: The leaders at ASP pressed on and managed to re-introduce the referendum on the 2001 Associated Students ballot. Receiving overwhelming support and a sufficient amount of total student votes, the referendum passed and ASP started receiving sufficient funding to help UCSD students.

2016: The Academic Success Program was renamed the Student Initiated Programs for Holistic Retention (SIPHR) to promote student retention through several means. Along with academic support, SIPHR develops programs that aim to retain students through career preparation, mentorship, wellness/self-care, leadership development, and sociopolitical empowerment.

MISSION

Student-Initiated Programs for Holistic Retention (SIPHR) is a student-initiated and student-run service that functions to increase the retention rates of University of California, San Diego undergraduates. SIPHR will be proactive at preventing academic probation, disqualification, and drop-out within underserved and underresourced communities including students from low income, first generation, nontraditional, undocumented, disabled communities of color. SIPHR's goals are to:

- Bridge educational disparities and challenges by providing programming and resources that promote the academic success of students from underresourced and underserved backgrounds.
- Enrich underresourced and underrepresented students' sense of belonging and undergraduate experiences by building emotionally supportive relationships between undergraduates, staff, faculty, and alumni.
- Connect underresourced students to culturally effective resources and programs that support their academic, personal, and professional growth.
- Strengthen preparedness for graduating students in constructing their post-graduation objectives and developing their career pathways.
- Through this, SIPHR will address educational inequity within the university system by providing academic assistance, facilitating student enrichment, and countering financial and food insecurity. SIPHR is committed to serving and fostering a sense of belonging to historically underrepresented and marginalized student populations.

Through this, SIPHR will address educational inequity within the university system by providing academic assistance, facilitating student enrichment, and countering financial and food insecurity. SIPHR is committed to serving and fostering a sense of belonging to historically underrepresented and marginalized student populations.

WHAT WE FUND

SPACES provides support for a number of programs that support the larger mission of achieving education equity. SPACES funding is subdivided into our three components: SIAPS (Access), SIPHR (Retention), and SPICEE (Community Engagement). For any program, event, or co-sponsorship to be considered for SPACES funding, the event must reflect, align, and/or pertain to the overall SPACES Mission and Learning Outcomes.

Altogether, SPACES funds a broad range of program and services. However, all events should consist of one or more of the required 10 program aspects:

1. Create awareness about social justice and educational equality.
2. Promote community engagement and practice principles of community.
3. Reflect student and community empowerment.
4. Promote a positive impact on student life.
5. Integrate affirmative values.
6. Explore the meaning and impact of self-identities
7. Develop leadership skills.
8. Cross-collaboration with other student organizations, centers, and departments.
9. Provide information and referral support system and services.
10. Encourages long-term participation for future services and events.

The following are different types of cosponsorships or sponsorships SPACES funds through different entities:

SPACES Internal Student Staff Programs

SPACES student staff members have the ability to develop and coordinate programs that fall within their specific job responsibilities. They also have the ability to create programs that support the overall mission statement. Programs of interns who are associated with a core organization and correspond with the goals of their position are funded through SIPHR, SIAPS, or SPICEE. Self-initiated programs that address overall education equity issues and are not associated with a core organization are funded through the respective component that the student staff is under.

Funding for Registered UCSD Student Organizations Programs (Non-Core Orgs)

Registered UCSD student organizations have the ability to request funding for programs as a co-sponsorship through SIPHR, SIAPS, or SPICEE as long as they are aligned with the mission of SPACES and the respective component mission. Generally, programs that target K-12 students including community college students receive funds through SIAPS, while programs that target undergraduates receive funds through SIPHR. Community engagement or education programs are funded through SPICEE. Based on the objectives, goals, and target participants of the program, the funding source is to be determined by the SPACES Finance Committee. There is a funding limit of $1,500 per program or event for Co-sponsorships.

Core Organization Programs

SPACES core organizations have the ability to request funding (co sponsorship or sponsorship) programs or events through SIAPS, SIPHR, or SPICEE if the program or event aligns with the overall mission of SPACES and the respective component. Generally, programs that target K-12 students including community college students receive funds through SIAPS, while programs that target undergraduates receive funds through SIPHR. Community engagement or education programs are funded through SPICEE. Based on the objectives, goals, and target participants of the program, the funding source is to be determined by the SPACES Finance Committee. Currently, SPACES has 7 core organizations which include:

- Asian Pacific Islander Student Alliance (APSA)
- Black Student Union (BSU)
- Kaibigang Pilipin@ (KP)
- Movimiento Estudiantil Chicanx de Aztlán (MEChA)
- Muslim Student Association (MSA)
- Native American Student Alliance (NASA)
